

Grant Opportunities Related to A topic

Office of Research Development

March 26, 2026

Summary

The following are some upcoming grant opportunities related to A topic.

Feel free to reach out to the Office of Research Development for assistance with identifying more specific funding opportunities, developing proposals, and finding collaborators.

Current Opportunities

Program	Sponsor	Deadline	Amount	Synopsis
Taiwan Fellowship	Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MOFA)	6/30/2026	$22,800	Fellowships provide grants enabling high-level academics & scholars to travel to Taiwan to conduct advanced research related to Taiwan, the Asia-Pacific region, cross-strait relations or Chinese studies. Provides an economy class return flight and a monthly stipend of: NT$ 50,000 - 60,000 (USD 1,900)

Program	Sponsor	Deadline	Amount	Synopsis
Books in Progress Fellowship	Folger Institute	09/15/2026	$3,500	This fellowship is designed for early career scholars who lack institutional support for book manuscript review. Applicants must have a preliminary draft of their full manuscript complete at the time of application. Submissions will be evaluated based on the proposed book's impact, its relevance to the field, the originality and sophistication of the scholar's approach, and applicant need. Furthermore, the Folger Institute is committed to supporting work across fields of study in the early modern humanities that addresses inequities or marginalized subjects, and which points to richer and more inclusive histories.

Grants to Monitor

Program	Sponsor	Deadline	Amount	Synopsis
Short-term Scholarly Fellowship	Folger Institute	01/15/2026	$5,000	Short-term fellowships are open to scholars with a terminal degree as well as ABD PhD candidates, or an international equivalent. To evaluate these applications each year, the Fellowships Program assembles an external committee of respected scholars, aiming for disciplinary, methodological, and geographical diversity. Committee membership changes annually. The committee is charged with evaluating applications based on the proposed topic's impact, its relevance to the field, the originality and sophistication of the scholar's approach, the feasibility of the scholar's research objectives, and their expected use of Folger collections. Particular weight is accorded to the project's impact, relevance, and approach. Furthermore, the Institute is committed to supporting work across fields of study in the early modern humanities that address inequities or marginalized subjects, and that point to richer and more inclusive histories.

Program	Sponsor	Deadline	Amount	Synopsis

Contact

Office of Research Development

Email: researchdevelopment@jmu.edu